

Internet Payment Terminal integration

Today, thanks to the Point of Sale solutions (POS), you do not have to worry about payment processing in your establishment. But, if the communication between your payment terminals and the financial institution is not possible, it could greatly affect your customer service.

At iMotion security, we have developed over the years, expertise in managing communication terminals for credit card and Instabank. We can implement a reliable and secure communication system that requires no dedicated land lines. The use of network/Internet communications for your payment system is a reliable solution that offers flexibility, cost-effectiveness and ease-of-use, for you and your employees.
